

Community Chest Approves Budget Of $78,243

Figure Tops
1956-57 Mark
By $3,486

By Leonard Randolph
COMMUNITY Chest directors last night approved a goal of $78,243 for the 1957-58 campaign. This figure is $3,486 higher than last year's record - smashing $74,757 budget.

Meeting at Wyckoff's Tea Room, the Chest board agreed unanimously on agency allocations set by its budget committee.

Agency allotments for the year will be the following, according to action taken by directors last night:

Boy Scouts — $6,800 on a motion by Mrs. Harold Ingraham seconded by Mrs. Eugene Martin. Amount recommended by the budget committee was $6,800; by the social planning committee $7,000. The agency had requested $9,363. Its current allocation is $6,500 making the amount for the coming year an increase of $300.

Child Health Committee — $1,000, the amount agreed upon by both the budget and social planning committees. Agency is receiving $650 this year but had asked for $1,664 for the coming fiscal year. Motion by Mrs. Martin with a second by Alfred Munson. Increase: $350.

Children's Aid Society — $11,000 approved by directors, on a motion by Mrs. Elton Denning. Agency had asked $12,312. It is receiving $10,750 during the current year. Amount of increase: $250.

Crippled Children — asked for $750 and that amount was approved by the two committees and the board on a motion by Mrs. Martin with second by Leon Koster. Agency received $500 this year.

General Hospital — This agency, through much of the past decade has "held the line" against asking an increased appropriation from the Chest, operating on the theory (according to its board) that even though the hospital does need a higher appropriation and deserves it, in the opinion of its directors, "someone has to say stop in asking higher appropriations to try to keep Chest goals down." Again this year General Hospital asked for $10,500 and was allotted that amount. It was the same amount of the current allocation. Directors approved a motion of Walter McClelland with a second by Mrs. Edward Knob.

Girl Scouts — on motion by Mrs. R. Frederick Jones the board approved an allotment of $3,335. This was the amount asked by the agency — the only one in the group which asked less than it was given last year ($3,480).

Guidance Center — $3,000 for 1957-58 or an increase of $1,000 over last year. The Center is now preparing to care for both adult and child cases and the "Child" has been dropped from its formal title. It serves Monroe and Northampton counties and the clinic is located in Easton. Motion to approve was made by Mrs. Munson, seconded by Mrs. Jones. Agency had asked $3,500.

Salvation Army — On motion of Mrs. Knob with a second by Mrs. Ingraham, an appropriation of $11,500 was approved. The agency was allotted $11,000 last year; had asked for $13,365 in this year's budget. The two committees had recommended the amount approved.

Visiting Nurse Assn. — Asked for $6,100 and got that amount — an increase of $100 over the 1956-57 appropriation. Motion was made by Koster and Mrs. Jones. Both committees recommended the approved amount.

YMCA — an approved allocation of $13,500 on motion of McClelland with Mrs. Ingraham seconding. Agency had asked for $15,750. Social planning cut this down to $14,500. It was further reduced by (Please turn to page three)

Two Leaders Discuss Arms

BONN, Germany, May 7 (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer exchanged views on Western defense and prospects for world disarmament in a secret meeting today.

They talked for 2½ hours on the first day of the British leader's three-day visit to West Germany. Informants said there was "a wide coincidence of views," but gave no details to support this assessment.

Inmates Riot In Prison

BISMARCK, N. D., May 7 (AP) — More than 200 inmates, armed with axes and an acetylene torch, barricaded themselves inside the North Dakota State Penitentiary cell block today, but officers broke the revolt by driving the convicts back into their cells with tear gas. Three inmates suffered slight injuries when Bismarck police drove the rioters back into their cells with tear gas.

Truck Driver Killed In Swiftwater

DR. CHARLES RUSHMORE, Monroe County coroner, examines the body of Edward L. Melisky, 27, of Scranton, who lost his life early yesterday when his tractor-trailer was in collision with another tractor-trailer on Route 611 at the Swiftwater bridge detour. State Police identified the other driver as Thomas R. Swartwood Jr., 38, Wilkes-Barre. (Photo by April)

$20,000 DAMAGE—This tractor-trailer, operated by Thomas R. Swartwood Jr., 38, Wilkes-Barre, crashed into another tractor-trailer on Route 611 at Swiftwater yesterday. Swartwood, who was booked on a charge of involuntary manslaughter because of the death of the other driver, told State Police his brakes failed as he was descending a hill near the Swiftwater bridge detour. Accident Occurs In Detour Area

By Paul Carlson

SWIFTWATER — Involuntary manslaughter charges have been filed against a 38-year-old Wilkes-Barre truck driver as the result of the highway death of another truck driver near here early yesterday.

Killed in the mishap was Edward L. Melisky, 27, of Scranton, whose tractor-trailer was involved in a collision with that of Thomas R. Swartwood, Jr., who was later released in $1,500 bond after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Emma B. Merwin, Mount Pocono.

State Police estimated damage at $20,000 as a result of the crash which occurred here about 3:45 a. m. on Route 611.

The victim was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. E. O. Hendrick, Mount Pocono. Dr. Charles Rushmore, Monroe County coroner, said Melisky suffered a severe compound fracture of the left leg, shock and hemorrhage and multiple cuts of the face, neck, leg and hands.

Swartwood suffered broken ribs, a bruised shoulder and cuts of the head. He received emergency treatment at General Hospital.

Detour
Troopers said the collision occurred on a detour in Swiftwater, where the four-lane highway narrows to two-lanes because of bridge construction.

Swartwood told police he was driving south with a load of coal when his brakes failed as he was descending a hill. He said he lost control as he was entering the detour, causing his rig to swing sideways into the northbound lane.

The Swartwood vehicle then crashed into the northbound trailer-truck operated by Melisky, troopers said. It came to a halt after hitting an embankment.

Melisky's cab was demolished, investigating Troopers John J. Kinsel and Robert Latzo also reported.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy; a son and a daughter; his father, Michael, Scranton, and two sisters and five brothers.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., Friday in Scranton. Burial will be in Sacred Heart Cemetery, Scranton.

Local arrangements were made by the Gantzhorn Funeral Home.

Six Refuse To Answer

BALTIMORE, May 7 (AP) — Six men invoked the Fifth Amendment before a congressional subcommittee today after an FBI undercover agent identified them as Communists who have infiltrated workers' ranks at the nation's largest tidewater steel mill.

All were employees of the Bethlehem Steel Company's sprawling Sparrows Point Plant. Each declined to say whether he was a Communist on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Questions
Balking at subcommittee questions were: Aaron Ostrofsky, Irving Spector, William Wood, Levi Williamson, Joseph Henderson, and Benjamin Fine, all of Baltimore.

Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, presided at the hearing. With him was Rep. McIntosh (R-Mich.).

Labor's Clean-Up Squad Examines Bakery Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor's own clean-up squad today sifted corruption charges against officials of the Bakery Workers Union. This is a matter due to get attention soon at hearings before Senate rackets investigators.

The closed session by the AFL-CIO's five-man ethical practices committee, which recessed its work until May 25, was outwardly uneventful except for a verbal tiff later between rival attorneys.

Postponement
Meantime Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate committee investigating improper labor-management activities, announced postponement of scheduled New York City area hearings from mid-May until at least mid-June.

McClellan ordered the delay after consulting with the Justice Department. He said it was felt improper to probe the New York area situation during the trial, due to start within a few days, of John J. Dioguardi, New York racketeer.

Dio is under indictment in connection with the acid blinding a year ago of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

McClellan said he expects the New York hearings to start around June 15, with Dio due to be "an important witness."

Other sources reported that the Senate committee probably will hold open hearings on Bakery Workers Union rackets charges in the interval before the New York hearings get under way, although no date has been set.

The Senate committee is due to question Teamsters Union President Dave Beck again tomorrow on his handling of that union's funds.

Henry J. Kaiser, attorney for Curtis R. Sims, the suspended secretary of the Bakery Workers' Union, told newsmen the recess of the Ethical Practices Committee until May 25 was requested by James L. Rowe, attorney for James G. Cross, the union president.

No Decision
Today Hagerty said there has been "no final decision on the for-chose."

He said a decision probably will be put off until after the President confers Thursday with congressional leaders of both parties on the $4,400,000 foreign aid program.

Hagerty told questioners the White House so far hasn't requested network time for a nationwide presidential address. And he said he does not expect Eisenhower to make any such address this week, though he declined to rule out the possibility.

In addition to a possible radio-TV talk, Hagerty said Eisenhower could speak up for his legislative program through news conferences, informal talks to various groups, and occasional major speeches before representatives of specific organizations.

Eisenhower Plans Appeal To People

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP) — President Eisenhower is going to follow through on a plan to make a direct appeal to the people for support of his legislative program, now having some rough going in Congress.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty revealed this today but said the President hasn't decided yet just when and how to present a public brief for his embattled budget, the foreign aid program and other items facing critical scrutiny from the legislators.

Hagerty had said a week ago that Eisenhower was considering a direct appeal to the people and indicated then that it would take the form of a radio-television address.

No Decision
Today Hagerty said there has been "no final decision on the for-chose."

16 Fires Burn In Sections Of Monroe County

FIREMEN AND Foresters fought a tireless restraining battle against forest fires in two major Monroe County areas yesterday.

By midnight the biggest of them all had burned off an estimated 2,000 acres on Effort Mountain along Route 115. A total of 15 fires had broken out along Lackawanna Railroad lines. They ranged from Henryville through Devil's Hole. And they had charred an awesome but unestimated acreage of timberland all along the railroad line.

A spokesman for the office of E. C. Pyle, district forester, said that volunteer firemen from Monroe County's township and borough companies had "done their usual magnificent job of turning out" to keep the rampant flames from spreading through more forests.

Believed to be nearly a loss in the Effort Mountain holocaust was part of the State's experimental forest. This project, under the direction of Eugene McNamara, research forester working out of Pyle's office, was one of the finest and most painstaking programs of its kind ever undertaken in the State. It was part of an overall Dilldown Watershed experiment which was designed to show the effects of various tree specimens on soil and to evolve new methods of conservation.

The Effort Mountain fire began late Friday night. It burned off an initial 200 acres, but was brought under control by Saturday afternoon. It stayed relatively quiet Saturday night and Sunday, the forester said, but it broke out again "worse than ever" on Monday.

Along the railroad route, pockets of fire began to appear yesterday morning. Within hours the number of individual fires had grown.

Bus Driver Indicted For Death Of Five College Students

Jury Charges Involuntary Manslaughter

A 34-YEAR-OLD Greyhound bus driver yesterday was indicted on an involuntary manslaughter charge growing out of the highway deaths last January of five East Stroudsburg State Teachers College students.

Raymond Joseph Barry, Philadelphia, was one of eight persons against whom a Monroe County grand jury returned true bills on various charges.

State Police identified Barry as the driver of a Greyhound bus which crashed head-on into a car carrying the students last Jan. 29 on Route 115 near Blakeslee.

The grand jury failed to indict Donald Leo Cullinan, 29, Lyons, N. Y., also charged with involuntary manslaughter.

Truck
Cullinan was operator of a tractor-trailer which crashed into the rear of a cinderling truck on Feb. 611 near Tobyhanna on Feb. 1. Earlvin A. Neipert, 61, of Tobyhanna, a member of the cinderling crew, was killed instantly. Two others were injured.

District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen indicated last night that Barry will probably go to trial in September. In the meantime, he is free in $1,500 bond.

The grand jury returned the following other true bills:

Arthur D. and Hilda Singer, Stroudsburg, liquor law violations; John and Mary Stasa, East Stroudsburg, liquor law violations; Glenwood Repsher, Stroudsburg, larceny and forgery; Franklin L. Strunk, East Stroudsburg, burglary; and Henry Willis, East Stroudsburg, fornication and bastardy.

Not True
Not true bills were returned for the following: H. Clifford Stefans, Mount Pocono, assault and battery; Michael Sopack, Pocono Summit, threatening to kill; Joseph Anson, Plymouth, Pa., larceny of an automobile, and operating without the consent of the owner.

Also, Robert Doll, Reeders, aggravated assault and battery; Ray Wolfe, Lyons, N. Y., burglary; Glenn Flick RD 1, Stroudsburg, burglary; and George A. Robey Jr., Hellertown, burglary.

Steels Lead Decline In Stock Market

NEW YORK, May 7 (A)—Steels led the stock market downward today in a medium-sized decline but aircrafts, some oils and selected issues made gains.

The irregular nature of the decline was shown by the fact that ten of the 15 most active stocks rose and only five fell.

Average
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 50 cents to $181.20, its steepest decline in weeks, moderate though it was. The industrial component was off 80 cents, the rails off 20 cents and the utilities off 20 cents.

Of 1,156 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by 505 to 393. There were 58 new 1957 highs and 27 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,300,000 shares compared with 2,210,000 yesterday. North American Aviation was the most active stock, up 1½ at 33½ on 38,200 shares.

The trend was mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled $20,000 shares compared with $20,000 yesterday. Corporate bonds were lower on more active trading. U. S. Government bonds were unchanged to lower in over the counter dealings.

Costello Draws 30 Days

NEW YORK, May 7 (A)—Racketeer Frank Costello was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse for contempt today for refusing to tell a grand jury the meaning of a cryptic note found on him.

The note was in his pocket when Costello was creased by an assassin's bullet Thursday night. It apparently referred to a six-figure gambling transaction.

Grand Jury
Brought before a grand jury probing the attempted killing of Costello, the gambler refused to talk about the note on the grounds that his answers might incriminate him.

Costello was hustled before General Sessions Judge Jacob Gould Schurman, who directed him to answer the questions. When he still refused, Schurman sentenced him to the workhouse.

Humphrey Urges Sharp Curtailment

WASHINGTON, May 7 (A)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey urged today a sharper curtailment of the war-born system of permitting many industries to take advantage of fast tax write-offs.

Since 1950 fast write-off certificates have been granted, in the name of defense, on nearly 22½ billion dollars worth of plants and equipment.

Council Receives Merger Petition

EAST STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night was formally petitioned to take steps to bring about the eventual merger of the twin boroughs.

A six-man committee of the Central Labor Union presented the petitions to council. They carried the names of about 360 borough residents. It was reported.

The petitions called upon the lawmakers to enter into a "joint agreement with Stroudsburg, providing for the consolidation of said boroughs within 60 days of this written request."

On hand to present the petitions were Ralph Paul and Paul Dellaria, co-chairmen, Howard Strouse, James DeVaney, Sam Miller and Arthur Frantz.

Similar petitions are expected to be presented to the Stroudsburg Borough Council in the near future. Then the CLU will join with other interested organizations in pressing the campaign.

Other Matters

In other matters, the council authorized Borough Secretary Sterling Cramer to write to Federal Roads Administrator Bertram D. Tallamy, urging him to do everything possible to make the Keystone Shortway a reality.

Council will also request the State Highways Department to construct a four-lane bridge between the twin boroughs to replace the old two-lane interborough span which was destroyed by the flood. Also authorized were applications to the Monroe County Commissioners for county aid, and to the State Highways Department for approval of highway aid for street construction.

Council further agreed to remove the two-hour parking signs on Lackawanna Ave., as well as Neola and Maple Sts. It then referred to its streets committee a suggestion that no overnight parking be permitted on these streets.

The following contracts were awarded: Hamilton Stone Co., 100 tons of stone; Shiffer Bituminous Materials, bituminous material; Nittany Materials, bituminous concrete; Stroudsburg Septic Tank Co., concrete pipe, and William Davis, cleaning and painting of a standpipe.

Rejects Bids
Council rejected bids for a diversion ditch pipeline and agreed to readvertise for new ones.

The following were appointed to work at the borough playground this summer: Lewis Hastie, director; Donald Herman, Richard Mering, Janet Stewart and Jane Sluter, swimming pool instructors; Patricia Muth, cashier; Susan Wilson and Marilyn Nittel, basket room; Delbert Davis and Beverly Long, playground supervisors; and Joseph Smith, grounds keeper.

The following were granted permission to construct driveways in front of their properties: Ervin Stem, Chester Dymond, W. S. Lanterman and Joseph Michaels.

Council was informed by its fire committee that George Engelhardt, in charge of maintaining the borough fire alarm system, has designated A. J. Gondell to take care of this work in his absence.

The police report showed there were 19 motor violations and five penal violations during April. The borough collected $150 in fines, and $35 went to the state.

There is no finer way of preserving memories than by a monument of granite or marble.

Presbyterian Women Meet In Shawnee

SHAWNEE—An estimated 100 Presbyterian women attended the fifth annual county meeting at Shawnee Church last night.

Main speaker was Mrs. Rodney Sundberg, who with her husband served as missionary in China from 1940-48 and since then in the Philippines.

Mrs. Sundberg said that 150 years of missionary work has gradually brought about a "non-denominational" and united front for missions in the Pacific areas. She called attention to her silk dress and pointed out that it was made in the style of the Filipino "dress-up" model.

Best Months
She said November, December, January and February were the best months for visiting the Philippines. Mrs. Sundberg said that native churches have begun to assume more of their own responsibility.

Among those taking part in the program were: Mrs. Paul Maxwell, organ prelude; Mrs. Robert Reeves, greetings; Mrs. Jack Wyckoff, Scripture reading; Mrs. Clifford Cramer, meditation; Dorothy Landis, solo; Mrs. Franklin Hallett, presentation of the speaker; Mrs. Carlyle Huffman, offertory prayer; Mrs. Albert Sommer, closing prayer.

Community Chest Adopts $78,243 Goal
the budget committee. Both committees urged that transportation for East Stroudsburg children should be provided so that both boroughs could use the Y facilities.

Other allocations included: Pennsylvania Citizens' Association, $100, same as current allotment; United Service Organization, $750, based on ratio of $1 for each serviceman and woman from this area in service during year; Administrative expenses — $5,343; campaign expenses — $3,565; contingent fund — $1,000. There was a $200 increase in administrative allocation; $301 increase in campaign and the contingent fund stayed the same.

In reporting the social planning committee, Mrs. Dening, the chairman pointed out that social planning's approach to the agency hearings is supposed to be different from that of the budget committee. "In that we consider, primarily, the welfare needs of the community rather than financial limitations in raising funds."

"Those of us who ring doorbells to help raise the money, however, are bound to look at both sides at once," Mrs. Dening said.

Observations
Discussing allocations to various agencies, S. Clair Smith, budget committee chairman, made the following observations:

That a "couple of items — such as interest on bonds" were included in the budget request of the YMCA and that members of the budget committee did not feel that these could rightly be considered part of Chest responsibility. The Chest does not include appropriations for building or loan financing as legitimate parts of agency requests.

Smith said further that the budget committee "concurred with the recommendation of the Social Planning Committee to run a bus between the Y and East Stroudsburg so that these children may use the facilities of the Y."

Smith pointed out that "at the beginning of last year's campaign $1,697 was thrown into this campaign from an over-subscribed amount in the previous campaign. Deducting this from the $74,917.65 we actually only raised $73,220.65 in the 1957 campaign. If you accept the recommendation for a total goal of $78,243 this is an increase of 6 percent."

Final recommendations for all agencies involved, he said, "were the unanimous decisions of the budget committee."

E. Holt Wyckoff Jr., Chest board president, was in charge of the meeting. Assisting him were Ethel D. West, executive secretary and Clifford Cramer, the campaign chairman for the forthcoming year-end drive.

Employees Of Bangor Company May Vote Again On Union

BANGOR—Employees of the Blue Ridge Textile Co. here may have another opportunity to indicate by secret ballot whether they want a union to represent them as a bargaining agent.

The company, according to President William M. Winkler, plans to petition the National Labor Relations Board for an election among the 380 employees.

At the last election in which Blue Ridge Textile employees took part, the union was rejected by a vote of approximately two-to-one. The election was held April 30, 1956.

Picket Line
Approximately 50 per cent of the company's employees are idled by a walkout. A picket line has been set up at main entrance to the Messinger St. plant, one of four operated in Bangor by Blue Ridge.

Winkler said he was in contact with the Bangor Police Department and the Northampton County sheriff's office and was assured that anyone wanting to report for duty would be given protection to and from work.

The pickets have made no physical attempts to dissuade workers from entering the plant, however, police said.

In talking to the pickets, a reporter was told there was a meeting of the strikers yesterday morning at the Blue Ridge Rod and Gun Club. They drafted proposals to be submitted to the company, but the pickets would not reveal the demands.

All questions were referred to Joseph Rader, of Wind Gap RD, organizer for the Textile Workers Union of America (AFL-CIO), who has declined to comment on the demands.

Winkler said last night he had not yet been advised by anyone as to the cause of the walkout.

Gray Ladies Receive Deserved Honor

Public recognition for their many years of voluntary service to the community has come to the Gray Ladies of the Monroe County Red Cross Chapter.

This organization has been selected by the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club to receive the club's ninth annual Golden Deeds Award, a coveted honor which heretofore has gone to outstanding individuals in the community.

Almost every person who ever entered Monroe County General Hospital as a patient knows of the many duties performed there by the Gray Ladies. Some of the jobs are small, go almost unnoticed in the every-day routine of the hospital's busy schedule, but they are most essential in brightening each patient's hospital stay.

So well have these women done their self-appointed tasks that to be without the Gray Lady service would leave a void that would require the hiring of much additional hospital help at a considerable expense to each patient.

The Exchange Club becomes the first major organization in this locality to honor the Gray Ladies. We salute them for paying recognition to a very vital segment of our community life and urge that other groups lend all possible support in extending county-wide thanks to the Gray Ladies for a job well done.

All of us can be grateful for what these women are doing. We hope the May 27 banquet at which they will be honored signals the beginning of a greater appreciation on the part of all of us for the many merciful services contributed to hospital patients by the Gray Ladies.

Minor Judiciary Needs Complete Overhaul

It has been argued for a long, long time that there is not proper and adequate administration of justice in Pennsylvania's setup of justices of the peace.

Many Pennsylvanians have been insisting that a far better system of minor courts, the only place where most people ever have any contact with the judiciary should be instituted.

O. D. Shipley, director of the State Bureau of Highway Safety, in answer to a question about J.P.s' condoning speed traps so as to pad their own pockets, said:

"I think we have some rotten apples in the barrel down along the line... I think our entire minor judiciary as it pertains to enforcement of traffic laws needs to be completely overhauled in this State... I think we ought to develop model traffic courts in this State so that we can insure the people that they are getting a good, clean type of hearing on their violations."

At the First Pennsylvania Traffic Court Conference, the attack against the JP system went on with Mr. Shipley charging "the JP's income is fixed on the fines he levies and you don't find many 'not guilty's' in this State."

One would think that the JPs would at least step up to present their side of the story and to share in the exchange of ideas offered at a conference such as the one sponsored by the Dickinson School of Law, Pennsylvania State University and the American Bar Assn. It would be a logical show of responsibility and interest in their work. Yet, not one of the state's 6,600 JPs bothered to show up.

"These Justices of the Peace try 80 per cent of the State's traffic violations, yet they are not interested in a traffic court conference such as this," Lehigh Valley Safety Council Director Harold A. Seward chided the absent men and women.

It will take more than mere chiding, however, to shake up the JPs.

They have been attacked so many times before, they must feel secure in their belief that the present flurry of words, as in the past, will not be backed up with government action.

Such action is long overdue. Whatever reform finally is instituted in the Commonwealth—the model traffic court outlined in the uniform vehicle code or any other—it should be kept fair and unpolitical.

The efforts of those who have voiced their objections to the inequities of the JP system, plus those who have not yet spoken out against them, now should be turned to restoring it to the higher plane of justice that Pennsylvanians deserve.

George Sokolsky Says...

Intimation Of Bias On Part Of Jurist Is Absurdity That Can Do Hiss No Good

I approached Alger Hiss' book "In the Court of Public Opinion" with as much objectivity as I could muster because Hiss is entitled to his day in the court of public opinion as he was in the court of law.

I did not therefore compare his statements with those of Whittaker Chambers or de Toledano and Lasky's "Seeds of Treason," or the two versions authored by Earl Jowitt, a British lawyer turned journalist.

Instead, I took the 24-page opinion of Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard, an outstanding jurist before whom Hiss appeared and who denied the motion for a new and third trial on July 22, 1952. Concerning this decision, Hiss says:

"Judge Goddard denied the motion for a new trial on July 22, during the sessions of the Democratic Convention that was to nominate Adlai E. Stevenson, who had been one of my character witnesses. Judge Goddard's decision reached the press before I reached my counsel, and when Mr. Lane applied at the courthouse for the opinion, he found that all copies had been distributed already."

It would seem from this statement that Alger Hiss has written a lawyer's brief designed to lay the foundation for a new trial. Were Judge Goddard a youngster, deep in politics, it would be possible to ponder the legitimacy of Alger Hiss' indirect charge of bias.

Judge Goddard, however, was a man of outstanding reputation, having been appointed to the court in 1923 and sitting continuously until his death in 1955. At the time of his decision in the Hiss Case, he was 76 years old. To assume that he would choose to end his long and honorable judicial career in the mire of bias is an absurdity which can do Hiss no good.

The issue was whether Hiss' lawyer had discovered any new evidence to justify a new trial, after Hiss had had two trials, one which ended in a hung jury; the second of which brought him a conviction. Goddard stated the charges against Hiss as follows:

"The first count charged Hiss with perjury when he testified under oath that he had never, nor had his wife in his presence, turned over any documents of the State Department or of any other Government organization, or copies of such documents, to Whittaker Chambers or to any other unauthorized person. The second count charged him with perjury when he testified that he thought he could definitely say that he did not see Chambers after January 1, 1937."

The new book addresses itself to these issues and it is difficult to find any data in the book which is not answered in the Goddard decision, although it is intended that one should find it because on a near to blank page, inevitably attracting attention, is the paragraph:

"Reproductions of material offered as evidence on the motion for a new trial will be found following page 374." Concerning new evidence, Judge Goddard said:

"The federal courts have quite generally applied the rule announced in Berry v. Georgia, 10 Ga. 511, requiring a party seeking a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence to show the following vital elements:

"(a) The evidence must be in fact, newly discovered, i. e. discovered since the trial; (b) facts must be alleged from which the court may infer diligence on the part of the movant; (c) the evidence relied on, must not be merely cumulative or impeaching; (d) it must be material to the issues involved; and (e) it must be such, and of such nature, as that, on a new trial, the newly discovered evidence would probably produce an acquittal."

Further, Judge Goddard says: "The contention of the defendant is that under other rule he is entitled to another trial. On the contrary, I am of the opinion, after a full consideration of all the defendant has offered, that... he is not entitled to a new trial. The defendant has submitted no proof, which would support a finding by a jury... There is no newly discovered evidence which would justify the conclusion that if it were presented to a jury, it would probably result in a verdict of acquittal."

The Hiss Case, like all such, will always be subject to dispute, many accepting his innocence and martyrdom; many regarding him as a proved spy. This book does not clear up the situation any more than John Foster Dulles' suppression of pertinent pages of the Yalta record helps Hiss.

Carolyn finally got a clue from a line she says to Don Murray in the movie: "Just say you love me. You don't have to mean it."

"She's a miserable girl," Miss J. explains, or tries to explain, "because she is searching for love and finds it difficult to admit." Only one thing bothered Carolyn. She had to dye her hair black. "Aren't there any red-headed existentialists?" she asks wistfully.

The doorknob-door fad is mushrooming; now, one's to be installed in the new $8,000,000 "dream terminal" that will be built at Idlewild Airport here by the end of next year.

Ringing Doorbells Dispelled Shyness

By Anne Heywood

Ginny was one of those painfully shy girls who turn red when spoken to and can't even think of light conversation.

She came to see me, some months ago, and sat nervously on the edge of her seat, fidgeting with her handbag.

Things Get Worse "Don't tell me to go to church groups or square dancing or places where I'll meet people," she said intensely. "I've done that for years and it just makes things worse."

"I can't force myself to be with people. It just makes me more nervous than ever. I want friends, and I'd like to have lots of people in my life, but I can't do it that way. It doesn't work."

I knew how Ginny felt. When you're so obviously anxious to "meet people," it shows, somehow, and you just feel pathetic and all the more nervous. No, it has to be done naturally.

Mad Library Job I asked Ginny about her job. Sure enough, she worked in a big company's library.

"On the telephone, I'm all right," she told me.

"The engineers telephone to get information about articles in their field. I can find it fast and tell them on the phone. But when they come up and make it a point to meet me, I get flustered and silly and they look disappointed and just leave."

Should Meet People What Ginny needed was practice at meeting people, but it couldn't be meeting them for its own sake or from loneliness. It had to be a Saturday and evening job where meeting people was a factor, so I suggested market research.

Market research is a field which pays people for ringing doorbells and asking questions about different products. They always need workers for early evening and Saturdays, because those are hours when they can cover the office people.

At first Ginny was sort of frightened, but as she considered it, she felt better about it. After all, she would be doing it for a purpose. Once she got over the first fright at the idea of ringing a stranger's doorbell, it might be fun.

Extra Income Ginny tried it. She soon found that in addition to making the extra income, she was having a fine time. She talked to all kinds of people, and because there was a purpose to her calls instead of just a pathetic desire for people in her life, she was able to chat quite comfortably.

She began to realize that most people are pretty shy themselves. Knowing this helped her to be less self-conscious. Pretty soon her shyness left!

If you're interested in the field of market research, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this newspaper, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Try and Stop Me

How's this for a perfect "short short"? It was torn from the typewriter of a precocious, 10-year-old by H. Allen Smith:

"Once upon a time there was a little girl named Elaine Nancy Imogene Ingrid La Rosa. She had no hair and rather large feet. But she was extremely rich and the rest was easy."

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Lost Colony Of Americans Held Captive In Russia

Washington, May 7—A "lost colony" of some 350 American nationals is being held in virtual captivity in Russia.

About 100 of them are children who were born in the U. S.

All of the group with the exception of a handful of Communist zealots, want to be repatriated. But repeated efforts by them and the State Department have been unavailing.

These American citizens have even been forcibly prevented from going to Moscow to appeal to the U. S. Ambassador for help.

Only way they have been able to get word about their tragic plight was by secretly conferring with a visiting U. S. housing delegation and giving it a written petition addressed to President Eisenhower.

This communication and a full account of these talks were personally delivered to the White House by Robert Loftis, of the National Association of Home Builders.

Senator Theodore Green (D., R., I.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has formerly requested the White House and State Department for a detailed report on this extraordinary matter. He particularly inquired about what is being done to "rescue" these Red victims.

Green learned about them from Ambassador Charles Bohlen, who is being shifted from Moscow to the Philippines.

The career diplomat related that all his attempts to get in touch with these people were blocked by the Reds. When he sought permission to send assistants for this purpose, that was either denied or ignored.

One More Betrayal — Publishable highlights of the information in Senator Green's hands are as follows:

Most of the members of this "lost colony" are American citizens of American descent. They went to Russia in the years immediately following World War II—1946-48.

Some were Communists. But the big majority were induced to migrate by glittering promises and attractions. The Soviet was desperately in need of craftsmen and mechanics, and went to any lengths to get them.

The group was settled in Yerevan, a large Armenian city near the Turkish border.

But instead of new, comfortable and well-equipped homes, high-paying jobs and the many other ures held out to them, their experience has been unbrokenly bitter and disillusioning. With the exception of the few hard-core Communists, the others are now living in privation and terror.

To talk to the American delegation that visited Yerevan, spokesmen of the group had to circumvent Russian police and other obstacles.

The U. S. citizenship of some of those who are now so anxious to return is probably under a cloud. How many fall in this category is not known. All of the children born here still retain their citizenship rights.

However, under the Immigration Act, to continue to do that, they must certify such desire before an American official before they reach the age of 23.

The Russians are doing everything in their power to deter that.

Bohlen feels that vigorous Washington insistence would get results from the Kremlin. He is convinced the Kremlin is directly handling this situation.

Big Steps — Brazil is chalking up an atomic milestone. The first atomic power plant in Latin America will be completed there this year. It will develop electricity for a city of 5,000... Chile and Bolivia have completed an agreement for the construction of an oil pipeline between them. It will be jointly financed and operated.

Two states of India are having a serious food shortage. The Nehru government will have to provide them with supplies to avert famine... "Man Unafraid," a history of military aviation by Colonel Steve Tillman, is getting a lot of attention on Capitol Hill, particularly by the armed services committee. A veteran of both world wars, Tillman witnessed the first American military flight at Ft. Myer on September 3, 1908.

More than 14,000 farm residents are killed by accidents annually and more than one million injured.

Two Knights Present At Conference

By Jim Riley

Jack Garrity and Sam Driebe are currently attending a State Knights of Columbus Conference in Harrisburg.

Jack, of 131 Maple Ave., East Stroudsburg, is Grand Knight of Father Butler Council, while Driebe is treasurer of the same organization. Father Butler Council is the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Knights of Columbus group. Driebe is a resident of 375 Bryant St., Stroudsburg.

Both men are scheduled to return home tonight.

Hal Harris, chief Burgess of Stroudsburg, has declared this Radio Week in the borough.

Hal announced a proclamation on Monday.

Dr. Josephine Castleberry, now living and studying in Philadelphia, visited many friends in Monroe County on Monday of this week.

Dr. Castleberry was formerly a member of the General Hospital of Monroe County staff.

Fran Whinn and Walt Fossa, two of the better known resort operators in the Pocono Mountains, attended the funeral of Ted Hilton in Moodus, Conn., yesterday.

Hilton is credited with gearing the resort industry to the younger set and completely revamping the publicity setup for resorts during the past 30 years.

The industry lost a true friend in the untimely death of Hilton.

Kenneth Carlton, well known Stroudsburg businessman, is celebrating a birthday today. Congratulations are in order.

Harry Jansson celebrated a birthday yesterday, but he's keeping the number a secret.

Harry is the barber in Tannersville.

Pete Nae, Delaware Water Gap, has been showing the boys a trick or two in photography recently.

He knows the shutter-bug scores on several different type cameras.

Besecker Wins First Place In 4-H Contest

TANNERSVILLE—Members of the Tannersville 4-H Electric Club gathered their projects for judging on Monday morning.

Bill Besecker won a blue ribbon and first prize. He completed a 4-H "steady hand tester." Besecker won first prize largely on the quality of workmanship his project possessed, according to Assistant County Agent Robert Stauffer.

Red ribbons and second prizes went to Ricky Pierce and Walter Smith. Ricky completed a dart board that lights when a dart hits. A bullseye rings a hidden bell. Sharing second place honors was Walter Smith who made a safety fuse demonstration board.

Third Place

Ralph Pryor was awarded a white ribbon for third place. Ralph constructed an earthworm tractor.

Other members completing projects were Bob Post, Ken Pearson, Peter Gerard and Howard Shick, each of whom completed a lamp. Pierce completed two lamps along with his dart board.

Don Detrick, Danny Paul and Peter Gerard each made an extension cord.

John Montgomery, local leader, judged the project.

Ribbons were awarded by Stauffer in conjunction with the 4-H Club office of the Pennsylvania State University.

Pitched Roof Big Assist In Air Condition Process

AIR CONDITIONING is more effective and less expensive to operate in a home with a pitched roof, according to a leading research engineer in the field of home cooling.

"The larger the air space in a well-ventilated attic, the greater the protection from outside heat," says Prof. John R. Watt of the mechanical engineering department of the University of Texas. "Flat or shed roofs have virtually no protective air space."

Professor Watt told an audience of air conditioning engineers and members of the National Association of Home Builders that:

"Doubling the amount of air space in the attic reduces heat absorption into the living areas by 75 percent."

Space

This air space, combined with thick mineral wool insulation in the attic roof, reduces penetration

Plan Landscape Project On Paper Model

PLANNING your garden and landscaping scheme on paper is a good idea, but here's a better one: Build a scale model of your entire lot in color. It will let you actually see what the whole plan will look like when it's in full bloom.

Start by making a scale model of the house itself. Walls can be made of a strip of shirtboard folded into a rectangle and set on end. Make the roof from another shirtboard.

Use crayon to draw in windows, doors and trim, matching the colors on the actual house as carefully as you can. Matching the roof color is particularly important, since a modern trend in color styling is to consider an asphalt shingle roof the key exterior color and to relate other exterior colors to it. A wide variety of deep colors and light pastels is available in asphalt roofing.

Driveway

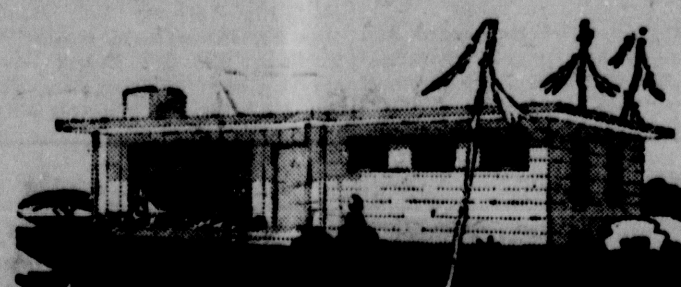

With the house in place, paste sandpaper down for the driveway and the patio and fill in the lawn areas with green art paper, felt or old towels.

Flat pins stuck through colored paper or felt make good trees. Shade trees should be placed to protect the house and patio from the hot sun. Thick evergreens are good to break a cold winter wind.

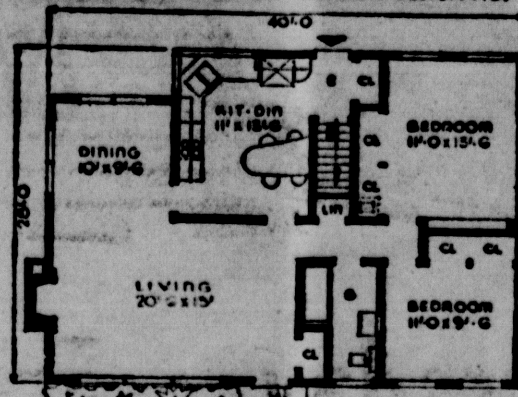

Whatever colors you choose for flowering trees should harmonize with the basic colors of the house. For example, if your roof is covered in a warm color, such as a deep red blend of asphalt shingles, dogwood trees set here and there will be in good harmony, with pink blossoms in spring and red leaves in the fall.

Equally good for color harmony with one of the warm colors in asphalt shingles are pink and red blooming shrubs, such as mountain laurel and azaleas planted along the foundation.

The final step is to decide what flowers—annuals and perennials—you want. You can match their colors fairly closely with knitting yarn. Spot them on the model until you get a pleasing layout and color scheme.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-344

3314 APR 27 M.P. 28

DESIGN B-344. A three-way exposure in the living room is made possible by combining the living and dining rooms. A large comfortable kitchen provides plenty of room for dining, generous cabinets and an interesting corner sink and window arrangement. The plan is open, with a very small hall, two good sized bedrooms containing large wardrobes, large bathroom, coat closets and a full basement. Another convenient feature is the rear entry opening directly into the kitchen. Exterior construction calls for a flat roof, vertical and bevel siding, brick chimney and planter, picture windows.

Floor area is 1075 square feet, and cubeage is 18,865 cubic feet.

Television Gives Tips For Interior Decorating Scheme

TAKE A TIP from television if you want to achieve dramatic effects and create moods in your interior decorating scheme.

That's the advice of Larry Eggleton, one of the Columbia Broadcasting System's top television set designers. Eggleton, who creates the scenery for CBS-TV's popular hour-long dramatic shows, Studio One, says the key to effective television set designing as well as attractive home interiors is the use of materials which have a three-dimensional appearance.

These include brick and stone walls, interior planting boxes, panel doors, draperies, textured wall materials, and walls painted with designs.

Favorites

One of Eggleton's favorite means of obtaining the three-dimensional, or textured, effect so important to his sets is with wood panel doors.

"Panel doors give us interesting texture because of the shadow lines created by the panels," he says. "These break up what would otherwise be a flat, monotonous surface. Besides, certain styles of panel doors also help us achieve mood and authenticity."

"For example, if a script calls for an early American setting, we can obtain a stock pine panel door which is an authentic copy of doors made by Colonial craftsmen. This gives us a background that is both realistic and three-dimensional. The pine grain also adds richness and warmth to the scene."

Eggleton believes that the same "tricks" and tools employed to make a good background for a television play can be used in home decoration.

"A flat empty wall as a background for a scene is a sin on TV because it invariably is dull and uninteresting. Believe it or not, this dullness can creep into the action of the play itself."

The same thing can happen in a house. According to Eggleton, interesting, decorative surroundings in the home are just as important psychologically for every day living as they are on television.

The home-owner can use panel doors of ponderosa pine with the same success achieved by TV set designers. The doors can be obtained from building material dealers in styles to fit any interior decor, from traditional to contemporary.

Pre-Pasted Wallpaper

ONE of the most important developments for do-it-yourselfers is pre-pasted wallpaper. Application time is cut to a minimum. The two-step procedure: dip strip into water and apply on your wall.

Good Color Gives Lift To Family

"IT'S A psychological fact that good color styling inside and out makes a house a happier place for every member of the family," according to Albert and Nancy Rubey, one of California's most sought-after home-color styling teams.

The Rubey color style and decorative thousands of homes every year for development builders in the San Francisco area. They are typical of color consultants who are setting the pace for home-color styling all over the nation.

By "good color," the Rubey explain, they mean bold colors used tastefully in a scheme which includes the entire house, inside and out.

Interior

Interior colors visible from the outside, such as curtains and draperies, should match or harmonize with colors used on the roof, siding and trim, say the Rubey.

"We also feel it's important that other interior colors be picked up from the exterior color scheme," Albert points out. "For example, if a door is painted pink and you open it and walk into a hallway with a pink carpet and harmonizing walls, you get a feeling of unity. Often this isn't immediately recognizable, but it makes the whole house seem better, somehow."

The Rubey's technique for color styling a house is to begin with the roof. The color or shade of the asphalt shingles gives them a key from which to pick a harmonizing scheme of colors for the entire house.

"As an example," says Nancy, "if we decide on an asphalt shingle roof in one of the bright pastels, we choose siding in a harmonizing color and a single trim shade with no accent colors."

"But if the shingles are a neutral brown or gray, we use three colors on the rest of the house—two harmonizing shades for the siding and trim, and a bright accent on doors, shutters and window boxes."

Decorators' Items

VENETIAN BLINDS are today entering the category of "decorators' items." They come in a wide range of colors and color combinations and in an interesting variety of finishes: spatter, mother-of-pearl, wood grain, linen and lace.

Insulation Important In Split-Level Construction

OWNERS OF SPLIT-LEVEL homes with rooms that are uncomfortably hot in summer and too cold in winter have often found the cause to be the lack of a complete insulation barrier.

Much of the trouble in split-level homes has been traced to insufficient or non-existent insulation in three special areas that don't always exist in other types of houses. These areas are:

1. The ceiling over the garage.
2. The wall section between the garage and the living rooms.
3. The wall section between the lower attic and the sleeping rooms.

Important

It's important to remember that a complete blanket of thick insulation should be installed around the combined living and sleeping rooms if a split-level house is to be comfortable throughout the year. Proper insulation also can reduce fuel costs as much as 40 percent.

Heating engineers recommend at least three inches of mineral wool insulation in walls and at least four inches in ceilings which are heated on one side and touched by outside cold on the other.

In places where joists and studs are exposed, the home owner himself can install mineral wool batts or blankets with ordinary tools. Areas which are not accessible can be filled with mineral wool by an experienced insulating contractor using pneumatic equipment.

For homes built on concrete slabs, a special type of mineral wool slab insulation generally is installed to keep heat from escaping through the edges of the concrete.

Thick Insulation Proves Valuable

A WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., housewife discovered the value of thick insulation in her home the first winter washday after it was installed. Her wet laundry, left in the attic to dry, was frozen solid.

Before her home was insulated with mineral wool, heat escaping from the house through the ceiling did an efficient job of drying Mrs. Michael J. Walsh, Jr.'s laundry. But a four-inch thickness of mineral wool blown into the attic floor kept the heat out of the attic, causing the washday freeze.

Eliminate Squeaks

TO ELIMINATE minor floor squeaks, use a dust-type graphite gun, commonly sold for lubricating door locks. Squirt a little of the graphite between loose, creaky boards.

Stroudsburg Resident Served On USS Pocono Mountains

GEORGE E. (Ed to everyone) Rahn, 798 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, read with interest a feature dealing with the USS Pocono Mountains, which appeared in The Daily Record on Tuesday morning.

Ed, who served two hitches in the Navy as a Chief Petty Officer, once served on board the large communications ship named for this resort locality.

In fact, Ed claims to have been the only native son to ever serve on the Navy vessel which was commissioned in 1945.

Rahn's stay aboard the USS Pocono, which lasted six months, was during the Korean conflict and most of it was spent in re-commissioning the vessel, which had been placed in the "moth ball" fleet. Much of the work was done in the Brooklyn and New York Navy yards.

Rahn's status in the Navy was chief electronics technician. In civilian life he is an electrician—as you might have guessed.

"The Pocono is a big vessel, in fact one of the largest communication vessels in the Navy," Rahn revealed. "It's importance is reflected in the fact that the ship usually carries an admiral aboard," Ed added.

The former sailor announced that this type ship is particularly important in amphibious warfare.

Rahn recalls that Cardinal Francis J. Spellman came aboard and delivered a speech and blessed the ship and crew at the re-commission ceremony. The ship was recommissioned in 1951, after two years of inactivity.

Rahn is married to the former Cherry Hornbeck and is the father of three children. He served in the Navy from 1942 to 1946 and then from 1950 to 1952.

Ed maintains that the USS Pocono is truly a floating representative and a floating advertisement for the Pocono Mountains.

Richard T. Haase

Haase Wins Promotion In Army

RICHARD T. HAASE, of East Stroudsburg, has been promoted to specialist photographer, third class, in the U.S. Army. He is stationed in Germany with the 26th Medical Illustration Detachment, which has assigned him as a photographer in the hospital at Landstuhl.

SP-3 Haase is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Haase, of Walnut St., East Stroudsburg. He enlisted in the Army in October, 1954 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

Course

After completing a 16-week course in the School of Photography at Fort Monmouth, N.J., he was shipped to Germany in October, 1955. Eleven months later he was promoted to private first class.

Since going to Germany he has completed a course in German and has been active in sports. He was on the company basketball and bowling teams during the Winter and is now playing right field on the baseball team.

Army Signal Corps Charts Course Of Modern Warfare

Equipment To Be On Display In Stroudsburgs

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth in a series of articles to appear on the U. S. Army Signal Corps between now and Tobyhanna Days, set for May 9, 10, 11. The days have been set aside by the Stroudsburgs to honor officials and employees of the Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot. The series is being written by Leonard Randolph.

By Leonard Randolph

CHARTING A COURSE for modern warfare has become the province of the U. S. Signal Corps. During World War Two the rapid, accurate execution of battle strategy became the responsibility of good communications.

From the front lines to the rear echelons, the Signal Corps was there with the right piece of equipment at the right time. Training men to maintain adequate contact so that supplies could be brought up from the rear and keeping the network of communications intact through a stiff battle is a rugged responsibility.

True to its tradition, The Corps rose beyond the requirements of the occasion.

Peacetime

Today, in the massive, smooth-running storage and maintenance Depot at Tobyhanna, the Signal Corps' peacetime job is just as important and its men are equally untiring.

Tobyhanna—the largest installation of its kind in the world—has earned a wide reputation for efficiency. But it has made a "name" for itself in other fields, too. It has good morale among its workers. It has constructed a carefully-planned and conscientious program of service to the community in which it exists.

In this respect the officers and personnel at the Tobyhanna Depot are "charting" a different kind of course—but it is altogether as important as the planning of a phase of war.

Since the Depot opened its gates as a full-time military installation its men have contributed thousands of hours, voluntarily, to "good causes" within Monroe County.

In one notable respect, the Depot has emerged as Monroe County's basic "hero" in a continuing struggle—the fight to keep alive the program of Red Cross Bloodmobile donations in the county. Time and time again, it is the Depot that has "pulled the blood donor program back out of the red."

Depot employees take an active part in fund drives in the area, also. Whether it's the Heart Fund, the Community Chest or the Red Cross, Depot contributions are in there, helping to swell the "war chest" against disease nearer its goal.

Spirit

This enlightened community spirit has been encouraged by officers at the Depot. But it has been largely the work of the men and women who work inside the huge installation and it has been primarily "from the heart."

Gradually, during the past two years, Depot employees have become more and more a part of the towns and boroughs of Monroe County. They have made their homes here and their children are being educated here.

Perhaps because of this, efforts on the part of Depot personnel to make themselves part of every community activity have become more and more pronounced.

Today, Tobyhanna Signal Depot is like one of Monroe County's largest and friendliest industries. It is also, directly or indirectly, a vital link between this county and the government of the United States—and the U. S. Army for which the Depot serves as an ambassador of good will.

Society To Elect Officers

NEW OFFICERS for the 1957-58 year will be elected tonight at a meeting of the Holy Name Society of St. Matthew's Parish.

The meeting will be held beginning at 8 p.m. in the St. Matthew's Parochial School auditorium.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting. Main speaker will be Leonard Randolph and the topic will be "The Gift of Faith."

Bangor Major To Resume Dental Practice

BANGOR—After serving in the U.S. Army for the past two years, Dr. Nicholas Cascario was relieved from active duty on Saturday and is resuming his local dental practice at 419 S. 3rd St. Commissioned a major while in the armed forces, he acted as chief oral surgeon and chief of the hospital dental service at the U.S. Army Hospital at Fort Chaffee, Ark. His wife, the former Audrey Myers, and daughters Karen and Carla, resided with him while he was stationed there.

Col. Lynden Wilder, post dental surgeon, presented the Bangorian with a letter of commendation for his technical skill and cooperation in performing his duties as a dental officer prior to his departure.

While in the service, Major Cascario attended courses at the Walter Reed and Valley Forge Hospitals and the Presidio in San Francisco, Calif. He maintained a practice of general dentistry in Bangor for 10 years prior to his induction in the army May 4, 1955.

Dr. Cascario graduated from Bangor High School in 1937, attended Moravian College for his pre-dental schooling and received his D.M.D. degree from Harvard University Dental School in 1943. His oral surgery training was at the Harvard Dental School and the Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston, Mass.

He is the co-author of several professional articles with Dr. Kurt H. Thomas, whose reputation as an oral surgeon, lecturer and teacher is world prominent.

Oil Wells Pay Off

LE HAVRE, May 7 (U)—France's oil wells in Equatorial Africa have begun to pay off. A tanker has brought in 16,000 tons of crude oil produced by wells near Port Gentile, Gabon. Officials predict that by 1960 French African and Algerian Sahara wells will yield 10 million tons of the 15 million France uses annually.

Membership Of Church Hits 800,000

HELLERTOWN—Membership in the Evangelical and Reformed Church has passed the 800,000 mark.

The upward swing was reported yesterday at a conference of the denomination's East Pennsylvania Synod, which will continue today in Christ Church here.

Mrs. E. Ray Corman, Wilkes-Barre, also reported that benevolence giving was "very high" for the first year of the current triennium.

Greetings

Mrs. Corman, president of the National Women's Guild, brought greetings to the 90 delegates as representatives of the E&R's General Council. The delegates come from 74 congregations.

The two-day conference opened yesterday morning with a Holy Communion service under the leadership of the host pastor, Rev. Theodore Haas. He was assisted by Rev. Howard Walenta.

Rev. Joseph N. Carr then delivered a sermon. This was followed by an explanation of organizational procedures by the moderator, Rev. William T. Longsdorf.

Family Wins Heroic Fight With Death

ATLANTA, May 7 (U)—Their Florida vacation is off, but the W. E. Tyndale family isn't complaining. They're thankful just to be alive.

For a few terrifying minutes, the Tyndales and their two young children fought death in a nightmare of darkness and swift, swirling waters.

All four were snatched under by flash flood waters and sucked through a 42-inch steel culvert beneath a railroad track. All escaped with cuts and bruises.

"I know now how it feels to drown," Tyndale said. "And believe me, your life really does flash in front of your eyes."

The Tyndales were bound for a Florida vacation when they ran into a cloudburst Friday night just south of Nashville, Ga., on U.S. 129. The sudden downpour forced them to stop the car with about 10 other stalled motorists.

"Suddenly the car moved sideways and we saw water coming in through the floorboards," Tyndale related. "I tried to open the door but the water was nearly to the windows and I couldn't get it open. The car was settling fast. We each grabbed one of the kids and dived headfirst out the windows."

Leg Brace

Clinging to the car, Tyndale had to remove a leg brace he wears as a result of a polio attack five years ago.

"Bill always said if he fell in the water that would be the first thing he would do," Mrs. Tyndale said. "We held to the car until the front end began to sink and we decided to try to swim back to the highway. He took Nancy, 7, because she is the biggest. I held Billy, 5, and we struck out."

The strong suction snatched them.

"That was the most brutal force I've ever experienced," said Tyndale, a 31-year-old Atlanta construction engineer. "We were swept into the culvert, tumbling end over end under water, banging against the side, and then we were spewed out the other side. We didn't know if we were alive or dead, or where we were."

Brother Of Area Woman Succumbs

HENRY HARMER, 47, of Scranton, died at 5 a.m. yesterday at his home. He had been in failing health since February.

Born in Scranton, he was the son of Edward Harmer and the late Jeanette Lewis Harmer. Among his survivors is a sister, Mrs. James Mader of Stroudsburg.

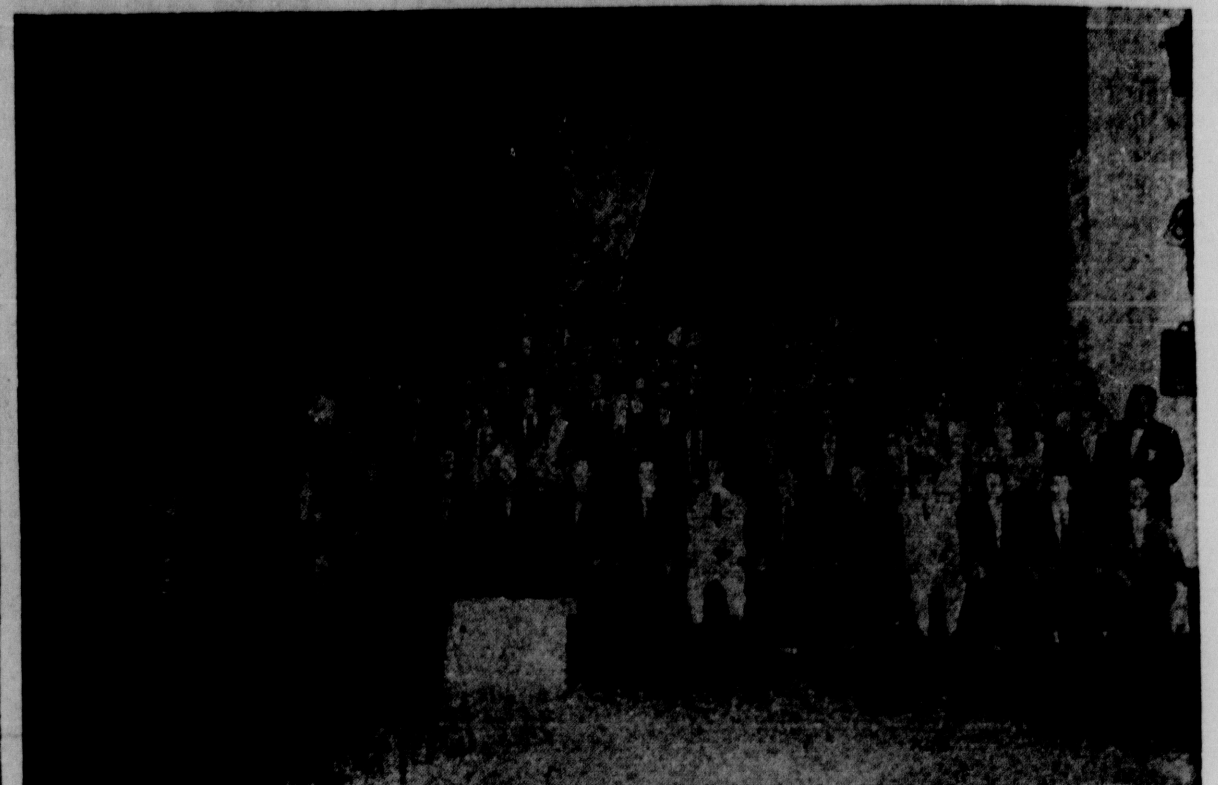

Services

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Davis Funeral Home, 135 S. Main St., Scranton, with Rev. David D. Doughton, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, officiating. Burial will be in the Washburn Street Cemetery.

Masonic rites will be held at 9 tonight.

Presses For Adoption

HARRISBURG, May 7 (U)—The Pennsylvania Automotive Assn. today pressed for adoption of a bill pending in House committee that would require new and used car dealers to close their businesses on Sunday.

KEYSTONE CONSISTORY, Scottish Rite Masons, initiated a class of more than 100 members at its spring reunion in Scranton. Class was named in honor of the late William Thomas, of Stroudsburg, an active worker in the Consistory. His son, William Thomas Jr., of N. Fifth St., was one of 15 Monroe County men who were members of the class. Other local Masons in the class were William F. Cron, John E. Detrick, Claude E. Hagerman, John B. Hamlin, Willard S. Kintz Jr., William E. Luckey, Samuel E. Machamer, Stanley R. Melvin, Layton W. Wilman, Edward C. Persons Jr., Lewis Rohrbecker, Eugene R. Van Aken, Stanley F. Heller, Harold W. Topham. The 26th degree was conferred by 32nd Degree Masons from Monroe County.

Past Of Jewish People Rooted In Israel Soil

By Paul Carlson

THE ALMOST microscopic land of Palestine was anything but physically attractive in those days immediately after British Field Marshal Edmund Henry Allenby liberated it from Turkish domination in 1918.

The Arabs still used the same wooden plows that were used in Abraham's day. Families crowded into single room dwellings. Malaria was widespread, and diseases were "cured" by the use of charms.

But young, Brooklyn-bred Sam Block was happy to be a member of the so-called Jewish Legion of the British Royal Fusiliers which brought an end to centuries of Turkish suzerainty.

"Physically, it wasn't as attractive as the United States," Sam recalled. "But the land has a peculiar effect on people."

"It does something to you," he continued. "The whole past of the Jewish people was rooted in that soil."

In fact, it was in the hope of establishing a homeland for the Jewish people that the brilliant scientist Chaim Weizmann was instrumental in getting the British Government to approve the Balfour Declaration on Nov. 2, 1917.

The following September, Sam Block enlisted in the Jewish Legion which was sent to Palestine under General Allenby.

"I don't like armies and I don't like wars," Block explained. "But there are times in a man's life when he must fight."

Sam, a Stroudsburg newsdealer and Monroe County chairman for the 1957 United Jewish Appeal, remembered that it was during an all-night bull session with a relative in Boston that he became convinced of the need for a haven for persecuted fellow Jews.

After joining the legion, he remained in Brooklyn enlisting other young men. Later, he took training in Nova Scotia, before being sent to Plymouth, England, and finally to the Holy Land.

"There's nothing heroic about my story," Sam insisted, "because my group missed the fighting."

However, his "story" is important because he has seen the "scrubby little land" of Allenby's day blossom forth like a rose and take its place in the community of nations.

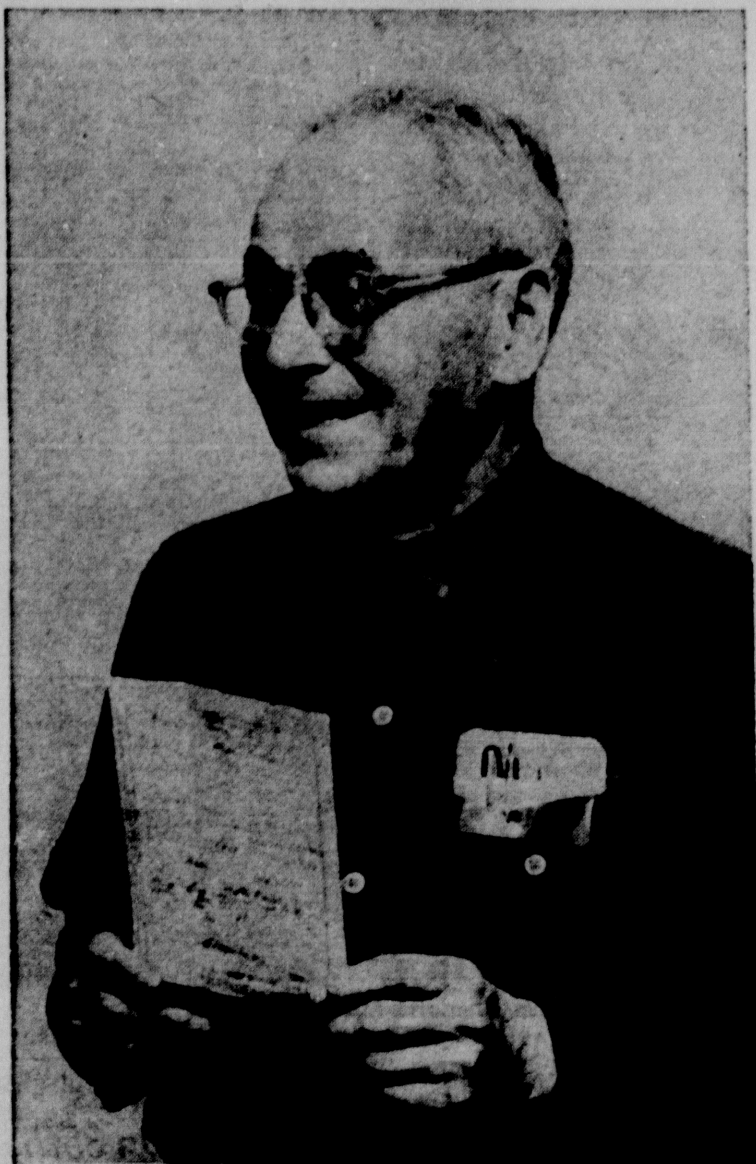

Sam has many recollections of those days.

There was the old woman, for example, who was weeping at the ancient Walling Wall which survived the destruction of two temples.

The secret of the ancient wall's indestructibility, she maintained, was the fact that it was made up of many little stones. That was the source of its cohesive strength.

"She was looking for the time when 'little stones' would become cohesive and make Israel a haven for refuge for the oppressed," said Sam. "Everyone who gives to the United Jewish Appeal gives a little mortar to add to the foundation."

Then there were the young people in those pioneer days who left wealthy homes on the pretense of going to school. Instead, they built roads with their hands, and many of them died as they worked to clear the malaria swamps.

"They didn't do it for money, because there was no money," Sam explained. "And they didn't do it for glory. They rather did it because they felt we Jews needed a haven of refuge for those not as blessed as ourselves who live in democratic countries."

And there were also the older people in those days.

"I remember one old man who you'd take to be a watchmaker or a shopkeeper," Sam remarked. "Instead he was a watchman guarding the new vineyards."

But much has happened since the British white paper provided for a homeland for the Jewish people.

"Since 1919, the whole appearance of the country has changed," the local UJA chairman stated.

The malaria swamps are gone. Numerous hospitals have been established for all people. The Israeli labor organization, or Histadrut, has helped to improve the economic condition of Jews and Arabs alike.

Moreover, the Arabs have representation in the Israeli Parliament, or Knesset. They are treated as first class citizens, Block reported.

"A Texan went to Israel to improve beef production and make some Jewish cowboys," he said further.

County Goal For Appeal Set At $6,000

SAM BLOCK, local chairman for the 1957 United Jewish Appeal, has set a $6,000 goal as Monroe County's contribution to this year's campaign.

Block said Monroe County is joining a nation-wide effort to raise a $100-million Emergency Rescue Fund in 1957 to cope with the greatest refugee crisis since the early days of Hitler and the D. P. era.

Block stressed that the Rescue Fund must raise funds "over and above" the regular 1957 UJA needs in behalf of humanitarian services in Israel, a score of other overseas countries and the United States.

"The Emergency Rescue Fund," he declared, "must be built up swiftly so that at least 100,000 victims of totalitarian regimes in Europe and the Middle East can be saved and resettled in countries of the free world, including Israel and the United States."

Block cited the plight of Egyptian and Hungarian Jews as the most acute.

Block noted that in one rescue alone the official government gazette of Egypt revealed that 468 leading Jewish firms had been confiscated and added that evidence is that confiscations have mounted continuously. The Jews of Egypt have been systematically plundered and deprived of any chance of earning their living, he reported.

He continued: "All of the country's 50,000 Jewish men, women and children stand to become uprooted refugees. More than 14,000 Egyptian Jews had arrived in various European ports by mid-March, 1957. The remainder live in terror in Egypt, praying for the day they, too, can leave. Each refugee ship, bearing 1,000 souls represents a responsibility of $1,000,000 on the Jews of the free world, primarily the Jews of America. Some 20 ships are scheduled to leave Alexandria for European Mediterranean ports in the next few months."

Turning to the tragic events in Hungary, Mr. Block noted that "up to mid-March, 1957, of the 190,000 Hungarians who fled into Austria from the Soviet terror, more than 17,000 were Jewish refugees. More continue to get across the border," he added.

"Like all the Hungarian escapees, these Jewish escapees," he pointed out, "formerly were sealed off behind the Iron Curtain and were persecuted because of their freedom-loving traditions. Back in 1953, news leaked out of Hungary about the deportation and dispersion of thousands of Jews because they were considered to be pro-democratic and strongly anti-Communist."

The regular campaign will also seek funds to carry forward the UJA-supported aid program for newcomers in Israel, and for distressed and needy Jews in Europe and Moslem countries and refugees to the U. S., he said.

Monroe County's goal is $6,000, the local chairman said.

"We cannot let these victims of persecution down," he emphasized.

The 3 'R's suddenly become alive when a young man becomes a Newspaperboy!

Overnight all this school business about addition and subtraction, profit and loss and a host of other subjects take on an entirely new meaning—when Johnny is in business.

As a Newspaperboy he "learns by doing"—becomes a member of the largest group of young businessmen in America. And the classroom lessons become much more important to him when he learns by experience how essential they are to his success.

Thousands of young men are in colleges and technical schools today because when they were Newspaperboys they learned the importance of "higher" education—and then earned a significant part of the money required for it.

There is a lot more to newspaper route management than most boys and their parents realize.

If you would like to know more about it—make an appointment for yourself and your son to come in for a conference.

The Daily Record

Your Newspaperboy will appreciate it if you will have your money ready for him when he makes his regular collections. That will save him time and help him maintain his profits.

NATO Heads Agree On Red Defense

BONN, Germany, May 7 (P) — The 15 NATO foreign ministers agreed today that the Western Allies must base their defense against potential Communist attack on a balance between conventional and nuclear weapons.

Even such avowed advocates of atomic deterrents as Britain's Selwyn Lloyd stressed the need for both conventional and atomic weapons.

A summary of closed-door foreign minister council sessions was reported by NATO's briefing officer. He said there was no disagreement among the ministers on the need for a balanced defense.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles assured the ministers the United States has no intention of backing down on its NATO commitments, including five full divisions in West Germany.

The ministers also took up the critical Middle East problem, but they instructed the briefing officer to report nothing about what they had said.

Officer "Such talks," the officer said, "can be pursued much more fruitfully if they are not on the public forum."

It was evident, however, that Dulles had indicated to the ministers that his nation is not happy with Egypt's power to exercise arbitrary control over the glow of Middle East oil to Europe.

The Western Allies, he said, already are planning to build new pipelines in the Middle East and construct large tankers capable of bypassing the Suez Canal.

Europe, Dulles told the ministers, must not be forced to rely "on a single artery which is subject to single arbitrary rule."

French informants said Foreign Minister Christian Pineau was happy about Dulles' statement.

Pineau was in the fore of the talk about the defense balance and at one point spoke out against "unilateral actions" in changing a nation's defense posture.

FORGOTTEN MELODIES sing again as music composed for flute, voice and piano is revived by Ellen Mazer, Carol Harrison Cartwright and Wendy Mazer at the closing meeting of the University Women held at the Mazer home, on Monday night.

University Women End Year With Supper, Chamber Music At Home Of New President

The end of one administration and plans for the coming year joined at a supper meeting of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Association of University Women held on Monday night at the home of the president, Mrs. David Mazer, Three Point Gardens.

Mrs. Charles Albert, retiring after two terms as president of the local branch, presided at the meeting when the members voted on their instructions to the delegate to the national AAUW convention in Boston, Mrs. Mazer.

Mrs. Albert also reported on highlights of the neighborhood conference in Wilkes-Barre, Mrs. Harold B. Flagler and Mrs. Robert Hartman who were featured in the fine arts workshop; Mrs. Sumner Bossler, Miss Katherine McFarland, and Mrs. Mazer who had also attended and spoke briefly.

Community-Wise

Miss Charles McMahon announced the organization of the League of Women Voters, with Mrs. George Levin, an AAUW member, as president. Mrs. Roger Dunning spoke on behalf of the classes for prospective parents arranged by the Visiting Nurses Assn. The need for foster homes for wards of the Children's Aid Society, babies, pre-schoolers, boys and girls, was stressed by Mrs. Albert.

New Committees

Mrs. Mazer in announcing her plans for next year named some of the chairmen who will serve on standing committees: fine arts, Mrs. Harold Flagler and Mrs. Robert Hartman; education, Mrs. Arthur Ifft and Mrs. Ralph Burrows; fellowship, Mrs. Robert Shaffer and Mrs. Wendell Wicks; legislation, Lois Mirandon; membership, Mrs. W. H. Caulfield; news letter, Mrs. M. R. Kiefer, Mrs. Elton Denning, Mrs. Horace Westbrook; publicity, Mrs. Barre Feiden and Mrs. Horace Westbrook; social studies, Mrs. Elmer Voely; status of women, Mrs. Charles McMahon; telephone chairman, Mrs. J. Charles Smith.

The meeting followed a covered dish supper arranged by Mrs. Sumner Bossler and served in the Mazer home and at tables outdoors overlooking the lake, and was in turn followed by a musical program arranged by Mrs. Mazer.

Memorable Music

Featuring seventeenth and eighteenth century music, composed for voice, flute and piano, the trio was composed of Carol Harrison Cartwright, soprano, who has studied extensively both voice and piano and has appeared in "Show Boat"; Mrs. Mazer, pianist, and her daughter, Ellen, playing the flute.

The music, musicians and the home setting combined to produce a haunting and unforgettable performance. The songs included Handel's "Sweet Forgetting"; Bishop's "Lo Here the Gentle Lark"; for Shakespeare's lyric; Caldara's "Quell' Usignolo"; on the imprisoned nightingale; and Schubert's "Der Hirt auf dem Felsen" (The Shepherd on the Rock).

Most modern number was Ravel's "La Flute enchanee" from "Scherzade". Also featured were two duets for flute and piano; Hassler's "Sonatina" and J. S. Bach's Adagio from Sonata in G Minor.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Recipe for an ice breaker: take about 50 congenial people, crowd them into a living room where they can sit comfortably if they sit real close, and feed 'em fried chicken. If they don't know each other better by the end of the dinner, I'll scrape everyone of the wild assortment of dishes that people bring to a covered dish supper.

Judging by the atmosphere at the AAUW supper at Mazer's this week, I'll be pretty sure on that promise. Of course, there was the added enchantment of the view from the picture windows and the appleblossoms glowing pink against the wall, and above all the music.

There was more talent represented in that little chamber music trio than you find on many a concert stage. Wendy, of course, can unearth just the perfect music for any occasion whether it's music for a morality play dating back to the 15th century or Kentucky mountain ballads for a folk play.

Daughter Ellen is following close in her footsteps and doing terrific things with that flute. Carol Cartwright, besides being the daughter of David Harrison, the artist, and wife of David Cartwright, pilot, has a beautifully trained voice. Everybody I talked to yesterday was sort of hawking in the afterglow of the program.

Incidentally Jean Albert, retiring president, had a moment of embarrassment when it came time to reveal the mystery personality of the month. She was it—and did you know that she started out to be a concert pianist with a minor in organ?

By the way I wish you'd take a good look at the picture today. Too bad it isn't in color with blonde, red and brown heads bent over the music. Even so it's a pleasant picture to look at, even if you don't know the people, and shows what Mac can do if you don't insist on lining up umpire officers in a clump and having them say "cheese".

PTA Briefed On Radiation At Meeting

Bushkill—The Bushkill Parent Teachers Association at a special meeting on Thursday, May 2 had as their guest speakers, Dr. Floyd W. Shafer, a physician from Stroudsburg and Joseph Kovarik, a teacher of the sciences at the Stroud Union Schools.

The two men spoke on data relative to atomic power, radiation and its effect on mankind. Kovarik illustrated his talk on the atom and radiation with drawings projected on a screen. Dr. Shafer spoke on the responsibility of the public to become acquainted with atomic radiation, nerve gases and many other things now being introduced. He emphasized the need for persons to become trained to detect radiation, to care for casualties and to assist in time of disaster.

A recess was held following the speakers' addresses to enable persons to ask questions.

Eldon Larsh, president of the association, convened the business meeting and reports of the secretary and treasurer were given. The subscription campaign was reported successful.

Mrs. Paul Floria was appointed as chairman of the picnic committee. Mrs. William Laubner and Ralph G. Turn Jr., were appointed as auditors. Hostesses were Floyd Dickson, Mrs. B. H. Bensley and Mrs. Raymond Dickson.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 22 and will be the annual meeting at which time election of officers will be held.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

This is another in our series of articles about justly famous businesses that have contributed immeasurably to the American way of life, and serve the public through distinguished stores such as A. B. Wyckoff.

At the foot of softly rolling hills near Dedham, Massachusetts, is a beautiful, large building which would measure just one half mile if you ran a tape around it. It is a pleasant, attractive place, the main offices of which are characteristic of gracious old New England colonial architecture. This is a building that was built on a scrapbook and a dream—the exclusive property, back in 1888, of a ten year old boy named Fred Rust, who was fascinated by greeting cards. No card that entered the Rust home was thrown away. Young Fred claimed it, pasted it in his book, enjoyed its sentiment and beauty . . . and decided that someday he would make it even finer one.

Strange how some dreams are. They grow with you, becoming more intense as you become older. That was the way with Fred Rust's dream. By 1906 he had opened his own one-room book shop in Kansas City and had created his first greeting card. For this he had borrowed a simple statement from the writings of Henry Van Dyke: "I am thinking of you today because it is Christmas, and I wish you happiness."

It was a dignified greeting, printed in red and black on deckle-edged paper. But it had two eye-catching features not found in other greeting cards of that day: it was French folded, and it came with an envelope. Fred had been dangerously optimistic, printing the staggering number of 5000. But he knew the public. He knew customers would welcome the dignity and charm of his little card. His boyhood dream was materializing . . . and expanding. He was concerned now with something besides Christmas greetings. There were, he suddenly realized, hundreds of cheery, joyous messages that might be printed to spread happiness and comfort on an ever-widening scale . . . cards that could draw families closer together and cause friendships to thrive.

Fred was an intrepid dreamer . . . full of enthusiasm and heart. Fortunately, he had a brother Donald who was equally gifted as a business man. The following year Donald joined his brother to manage production and finance. The boys were a perfect balance for each other. As Fred was later to say, "The business would have suffered if my heart had acted without Don's head."

By 1913 the Rusts were flourishing to such an extent they closed the little Kansas City bookshop and moved to Boston where they rented 5000 square feet of floor space. Within six years another move was necessitated . . . they went into a location providing 250,000 square feet of space. By 1955 the ever-expanding company had more than 1500 employees, and Rust Craft greeting cards could be found in every mail, going to thousands of men, women, and children the world over. In addition to Seasonal Cards, such as Christmas, Valentine's Day, Easter, Mother's Day, et cetera, there is the traditional Everyday Line, including cards for birthdays, anniversaries, wedding and illness. The company also produces a host of Special Friend and extra-special occasion cards.

Most of the greetings are written by Rust Craft's own Editorial staff, but free lance writers also submit material, and these writers may not just be professional—some are business men, mothers, housewives, and clubwomen. The Creative Department provides the necessary art work . . . but in the long run it is conceded that the aptness of the message is the deciding factor in customer purchase. Accordingly, greetings are seriously considered from every angle before a decision is made.

What else goes into greeting card manufacture: such fine details as silk screening . . . gold or silver leafing . . . cutting . . . folding . . . inspection . . . and "finishing." The finisher is responsible for tucking a tiny feather, a pet bow, or a wigly worm into the proper position. In one year alone, Rust Craft uses over 1000 miles of ribbon to decorate cards . . . or 100,000 sets of false teeth or other gadgets. THAT is the story of Rust Craft, the card we so proudly sell at Wyckoff's—the card you may be buying for MOTHER'S DAY this Sunday.

POCONO MANOR has done it again. Officials of the resort high above the Poconos have come up with another stellar golf match that will feature two of the best young professional golfers in the United States and a pair of linksmen who need not take a back seat to anyone traveling the fairways today.

The exhibition, slated for Thursday, May 30—Decorated Day—brings together Arnold Palmer and Art Wall Jr., two of the brightest swingers on the pro circuit today, and Jack Cuttle and "Brod" Brown, a pro and amateur, who know their way around any course.

Last year, it will be remembered, Pocono Manor featured Wall and Cuttle against Doug Ford and Mike Fetick. Ford, former PGA champ and recent winner of the Masters, and Fetick, the long-ball hitter from Yonkers, N. Y., bested Art and Jack in as good a match seen in these parts in quite a spell.

It was Wall and Cuttle playing cute over a familiar course against gambling Ford and Fetick. And in this specific case the gamblers won—just because they took a few chances.

This year the pairings haven't been announced. But we imagine that Palmer will team up with either Cuttle, or Brown, and Wall taking as partner—for the sake of the record—Brown or Cuttle.

Wherever the partners be, it should be quite a match. Palmer, an at-time resident of Shawnee-on-Deleware, but who plays out of Latrobe, Pa., has among his tournament scalps this year the Anles and Houston Opens titles. Besides these two big fish, Arnold has been in the money more times than the proverbial banker.

Wall hasn't had an exactly poor season on the pro trail this season either. In fact it has been one of Art's best. The former Duke University basketball and golf star captured the Pensacola Open and has been among the top 10 in every classic consistently.

At one time—not too long ago—he was sixth on the play-for-pay trek in booty-taking. Only a few bad breaks cost Wall a chance to be closer to the top of the money-grabbers.

Cuttle, like the Poconos, are to vacations in anonymous to golf. The veteran of more than 35 years links and teaching play is Mr. Golf to all who ever had a part in the game.

Despite his years, there is no one the area links fans would rather have belting a ball around Pocono Manor than caddy Jack. He knows every hook and corner of the picturesque 18-hole layout, and what he lacks in power he more than makes up in savvy.

Cuttle, long a friend of the touring pros when he himself was making the journey, was at one point in his career the most sought out linksmen for advice by the top-notchers. It was nothing for a great star to sneak up to Jack and ask his opinion on certain strokes, holds, or what have you.

Brown is no Johnny-come-lately to area golf. The amateur with pro ability only has held the club championship at Pocono Manor seven times, which is par for any course.

"Brod" started playing the game at the age of five and has been going great guns ever since—as his play in many of the tournaments attests.

Last year we sat down with Les Brown—not the leader of the band of renown—and he pointed out that the Manor was going to attempt to set up exhibition, headlining the top names in professional golf.

Brown's words, then, centered around giving the area and golf here a shot in the arm. The Manor's first venture, Ford and Fetick and Wall and Cuttle was a success. A talk with many who watched the match proved that everyone came away happy, including this writer.

Brown, a top Manor official who is one of golf's biggest boosters in the East, and his associates John Randall and Cuttle, with the help of their traveling representative Wall, are leaving no stone unturned in hopes to putting on—if it is possible—bigger and better event exhibition matches this year.

The initial kickoff for '57 is Palmer, Wall, Cuttle and Brown. And they promise there is more to come. To twist around a program hawker's cry, "you can't tell a player without a scorecard but you can tell a golf star without one." This the Manor assures May 30 and months to come.

Cubs Nip Bucs In 14th
PITTSBURGH, May 7 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs scored four runs in the 14th inning tonight and hung on for a 10-8 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates who were shoved into the National League cellar. Dale Long, a former Pirate, drove in what proved to be the winning run.

Eastburg Bows To Pen Argyl, 5-3

Miscues Play Major Role In Downfall Of Cavaliers

PEN ARGYL—Pen Argyl High capitalized on shoddy fielding by East Stroudsburg to gain a 5-3 Lehigh-Northampton League victory over the Cavaliers here yesterday.

Six Eastburg miscues—all instrumental in but one of the Green Wave's rallies—led to the downfall of Cavalier hurler Charley Lupin and his mates. It was the second loss in four loop outings for Eastburg, and Pen Argyl's first win in three league starts.

East Stroudsburg was behind from the start as the Green Wave picked up a single run in the first, and two each in the third and fourth. The Cavaliers put across all of their rallies in the fifth with a three-run outburst.

Lupin deserved better fate. The Eastburg left-hander allowed only six hits during his turn on the hill and except for a better fielding break might have got away with less trouble.

Reese Sharp
Evan Reese did a fine job in relief, holding the host team scoreless and hitting during his two mop-up innings on the mound.

Pen Argyl went out in front in the first without the benefit of a hit. However, two costly errors sent the tally home. The Green Wave made it 3-0 in the third after one was out on two straight miscues, Sammy Lohb's hit, Bill Ruggiero's sacrifice fly and Carl Bone's base knock.

The Slate Batters got their final two runs in the fourth on winning singles by Vern Shaplin's triple and pitcher by Dick Runney and Lohb.

Eastburg's three-run spree in the fifth started when Dale Metzgar walked, Ted Wietnicki was struck out in a pinchhitter role, Joe Kolan walked and Gimble ran for the big reserve first baseman. Bob Kassner was safe on an error to load the bases.

Frank Lupin forced Metzgar at home but Hickman was safe on another error and Gimble scored. Kassner came in when Bob Stine beat out an infield hit and Hickman tallied when Bob Herman was safe on Lohb's error.

Chestnuthill, Polk Nines Post Monroe Loop Wins

CHESTNUTHILL chalked up its third victory and Polk moved up to the 500 mark following games in the Monroe Scholastic League yesterday. Chestnuthill blanked Tobyhanna, 16-9, and Polk walloped Barrett, 18-2.

Chestnuthill improved its second place position in the league by handing Tobyhanna a setback. Frable set down host Tobyhanna with three hits as his mates pounded out 13 off the offerings of Harvey and George Kelper. George Kelper took the loss.

The Hillers bounced out to 3-0 lead in the first inning and had little trouble upping the spread the rest of the way.

Lavagetto New Manager Of Senators

DETROIT, May 7 (AP)—The down-trodden Washington Senators changed managers today, ousting Chuck Dressen and naming Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto—the man Dressen picked as his chief coach and sidekick seven years ago—to replace him.

Off to their worst start in 57 seasons in the American League, the Senators decided drastic changes were needed to pump new vigor into the team that hasn't finished in the first division in 11 seasons.

After the last-place Senators dropped their eighth consecutive game yesterday and their 16th in 20 starts, President Calvin Griffith sped to Detroit to move the 44-year-old Lavagetto into command and offer Dressen a front-office job.

Northampton Sinks Stroudsburg, 10-4

NORTHAMPTON—The Konkrete Kids of Northampton High took advantage of Stroudsburg miscues and the wildness of starting pitcher Ron (Super) Phillips to romp to a 10-4 Lehigh Valley League victory over the Mountaineers here yesterday.

It was the second straight loss for the Mountaineers who had run up five consecutive wins before tasting defeat. In the L-V, Stroudsburg owns a 2-2 record. Northampton is 3-1 in the league.

Northampton, losers only to Palmerton in circuit duels, skirted away to a 9-1 edge in the first four innings and then held on for the victory.

Displaying a solid inner defense and heads-up ball running the bases, the Konkrete Kids maintained control of the ball game from the second inning on.

Phillips, a righthander, ran into trouble finding the plate in the second frame and Northampton used the "break" to stroke out a couple base hits and grab a 4-0 edge.

Snyder Relieves
Jimmy Snyder, a left-hander, relieved Phillips in the fourth inning when the Konkrete Kids scored

4 STC Teams In Action Today

DeNikemen Only Squad Set For Home

FOUR East Stroudsburg Teachers athletic teams will see action today but only the track team of Howard De-Nike is scheduled for activity on the Normal Hill Field. The Warriors baseball, men's tennis and girls' archery squads are slated for contests in foreign territory.

STC's third-grade will be seeking its second triumph in three dual meets today when they host New York Community College's cadets from Brooklyn on the Normal Hill track. The first event is slated 3 p.m.

DeNikemen's forces have lost only one meet. They also participated in the Penn Relays and the Pennsylvania State Teachers Conference Meet at West Chester, but failed to come out on top.

"The Hill" baseball representatives hope to pack away their fourth straight Teachers Conference victory against Kutztown today. The Warrior nine of George Ockershausen is unbeaten in league duels.

Jim Oplinger, a righthander, is expected to be the mound choice of ESSTC at Kutztown.

A Warrior win today will push them to within one victory of going through the PTC schedule unblemished. On the season, ESSTC is 4-3.

Nedman Seeks No. 5
Frank Grimm's undefeated ESSTC tennis team also is at Kutztown today. The Warrior racquetmen have swept by four foes thus far, and are hoping to make the Golden Avalanche netmen No. 5.

Another "Hill" team — Katherine Griffith's bow-arrow lassies — will take on Swarthmore's girls in a shoot off on the Philadelphia suburban's range.

In three matches, against college competition, the Warriors have downed Drexel Tech twice and Centenary Junior College.

Hamner Set To 'Go Broke' As Infielder

PHILADELPHIA, May 7 (AP) — Granny Hamner has decided to "go broke" as an infielder.

Hamner, 30, three time all-star as a shortstop and second baseman, and a 429 hitter in the 1950 World Series, has been trying to make the major league grade as a pitcher because of a sore shoulder that hampers his batting, but not his throwing.

The shoulder, however, seems to be getting better and why should a guy who can often upward of $25,000 as a hard hitting infielder, work as a relief pitcher for a lot less?

How do the Philadelphia Phillies feel about it?

"The condition of the shoulder is the determining factor," says Manager Mayo Smith. "If he's able to swing a bat and play the infield, we'll give him a chance. I don't think he's ready to play yet. He needs two or three or four days work in the infield."

Undecided
Suppose Hamner can't regain his form in the infield? Suppose the shoulder doesn't respond? Will Smith keep him?

"I don't know what we'll do. I'm not saying we'll keep him, nor am I saying we'd release him. We'll just wait and see what happens," replied Smith.

The manager went on: "I still think Granny can make it as a relief pitcher if he wants to. However, if his shoulder continues to improve, we'll try him at either second or short."

U.S. Team Was Record-Maker

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP) — During a one-year period which started in May, 1956, members of the U.S. Olympic track and field team accounted for 20 new American citizens records and equalled two others.

That is proof, according to Art Lentz, who compiles the statistics for the U.S. Olympic Assn., that the 1956 American team was the greatest ever assembled. It could have been even greater if a couple of athletes who had been expected to make the team with ease hadn't run into trouble in the tryouts.

At the end of this unprecedented year of record smashing, only 11 of the 42 American citizens record holders listed in the 1956 track and field handbook remained untouched.

UNDERSTUDY IRON LIEGE TOPS DERBY—In a driving finish which required the camera to decide, Iron Liege, understudy to injured Gen. Duke, crosses the finish line to win the 83rd Kentucky Derby for Colmest Farms. The son of Bull Lea, under a hard ride by jockey Willie Hartack, ran the mile and one-quarter in 2:02-1/5 to give Colmest its sixth Derby triumph. Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man made it tough for Iron Liege and the judges, and Kernstable's Roundtable finished third. Federal Hill, winner of the Derby trial set the early pace in the classic which brought $107,950 to the winner.

Ramon Says: Maybe Monday

MARACAYBO, Venezuela, May 7 (AP) — Pitcher Ramon Monzant, who has made several false starts toward rejoining the New York Giants, said today it's next Monday, for sure. The Venezuelan righthander skipped spring training to care for his mother during her fatal illness but said last week he was on his way to New York without further delay. Then he cancelled his plans.

Today Monzant said he was waiting for an advance of $300 from the Giants' front office but that he will enplane for New York Monday even if the money doesn't show up by that time. In New York, the Giants' front office said it knew nothing of Monzant's plane money.

Bucs Farm Churn, Recall Pepper

PITTSBURGH, May 7 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today optioned pitcher Clarence (Chuck) Churn to their Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League to make room for Laurin Pepper, a pitcher recalled to the parent club.

Churn, 26-year-old righthander, appeared in only five games, giving up nine hits in 8 1/3 innings. He walked four, struck out four and had a 4.43 earned run average. He had no record.

Pepper, 24, also a righthander, is en route from Hollywood where he had an 0-1 record.

Organize New Class D Loop

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 7 (AP) — Organized baseball today added a new Class D league which will take over the name of the defunct after the 1955 campaign.

The new league, made up of Va., and Salem and Wytheville, Va., will be manned by rookies with no professional experience. All clubs will be big league farms, with Baltimore the parent of the Kingsport team, Brooklyn controlling Bluefield, Pittsburgh owning Salem, and St. Louis operating Wytheville.

The loop expects to get under way Sunday, June 30, for a 66-game campaign. Chauncey de Vault of Bristol, Tenn., president of the old Appalachian League, is head of the circuit. All the cities were represented in the old league.

Michigan State's Kevan Gosper, Big Ten 440 and 600 yard run champion, is a featured lecturer with the Student Speaker's Bureau. His subject is his native Australia.

Area Dogs Capture Honors At Trenton Specialty Show

DOGS, OWNED AND handled by area canine fanciers, captured honors at the Trenton Interstate Specialty Show, over the weekend.

In the shetland sheep category, Mrs. Constance Hubbard's Astolat Emblem Radiant placed second in the Futurity Stakes. Fourteen pups were entered in the event.

Mrs. Hubbard's other entries in the show also reaped in laurels. Astolat's Magnet Royalty was first in Bred by Exhibitors; Astolat's Model Michiel was first in American Bred and winners, and Emblem's Radiant gained winners and four points toward its championship. Mrs. Hubbard is from Effort. Entries of Miss Anne Dadevick, of Mt. Pocono, also grabbed off citations. Her Lightnight O'Cloud Crest was third in the shetland sheep Futurity; Cloud Crest Contest finished third in Bred by Exhibitors, and Astolat Star of Cloud Crest was second in the Open Class.

Pocono Top Hit

Mrs. Clare Specht, of Jonaire, Kennels came in for a share of the honors when Jonaire Pocono Top Hit placed first in the Open, went on to Winners and Best of Winners.

Leonard Griffin, of Stroudsburg, in the collie phase placed fourth in the puppy class with Vir Jon Sir Cedric McKunk.

Griffin's canine also placed fourth on Saturday in the Doylestown Kennel Club Show.

Valdes, Holman Set For TVer

PORTLAND, Ore., May 7 (AP) — Johnny Holman from Chicago, who whipped a man almost twice his size in his last fight, goes into the ring tomorrow night against Cuban Nino Valdes, the world's ninth-ranked heavyweight.

Valdes, in town to polish off training for the 10-round bout, to be televised nationally—ABC-TV, 6 p. m., PST—and was annoyed immediately by two things:

1. That he wasn't ranked higher than ninth in the national ratings.

2. He couldn't find sparring partners willing to take his punches after cuffing two of them around Sunday.

Both men limbered up briefly today. They will weigh in at noon tomorrow.

Valdes has been rated slightly more than a 2½ to 1 choice.

Cornell Favored

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — Cornell's hand of seniors was rated a slight edge today by the experts over Yale's half-shell of Olympic champions in the Carnegie Cup regatta Saturday at Ithaca.

Class For Prospective Parents Formed

NEXT CLASS for prospective parents is now being formed. This series of instructions for parents-to-be is sponsored by the Visiting Nurse Association of Monroe County and is approved by the County Medical Society.

A sample class in the series will be held on Thursday, May 16. All prospective parents in the area are invited without obligation. The class will meet in the out-patient waiting room at General Hospital in East Stroudsburg. It begins at 8 p. m.

Summary

This sample class will provide a summary of the entire course. Classroom materials will be on display. Mrs. Edna Monti, the instructor, who has been specially trained in maternal and child birth care, will be on hand to answer questions of prospective class members.

Subjects covered in the course include: "Before the Baby Comes," "Nutritional, Garment and Other Needs in Preparing for the Baby," "The New Baby," "Daily Care," "The Baby's First Year" and others.

The courses on education for childbearing are designed for both parents. Prospective fathers are especially urged to attend along with their wives. The VNA emphasizes problems of both parents during the maternity period and ways of coping with them are discussed.

Further information on the course may be obtained from your family doctor, from the VNA office at 1293 or by sending in coupons which are available in many stores throughout the area, according to Mrs. James G. Kitchen II and Mrs. Virginia DePuy, public relations coordinator and executive director, respectively of the VNA.

Club Members At Convention

FIVE KIWANIS Key Club members recently attended the State Key Club convention in Johnstown.

Delegates from the Stroudsburg club included: Bob Adelman, Don Hickey, Jim Welsh, Larry Van Why and Dick Swingle. They were accompanied by Darrell Gehris, a Kiwanis member.

John Whitaker, Parkland, was named president of the State Key Club association. Parkland and Stroudsburg Key Clubs are in the same district.
